Material for a programme note

Born in Coventry (1947), Anthony Skilbeck's composing life has been supported by work as a teacher, pianist, organist and choir trainer. Musical studies were begun during Skilbeck's childhood in Bournemouth, where his principal musical mentor was Michael Peterson. First professional qualifications were obtained whilst studying at the Royal College of Music and London University Institute of Education. Since 1977 he has resided in Nottinghamshire. In 2000, composition studies with David Harold Cox and George Nicholson culminated in a Ph.D. degree for original composition being awarded by The University of Sheffield. During his time as a mature student, for a short period, Skilbeck also studied the interpretation of organ music with Nicolas Kynaston.

Of his compositional language (usually atonal, but "listener-friendly") Skilbeck writes:

The pianoforte music of Debussy and works from Schoenberg's 1908 to 1912 period have had a particular influence on my harmonic language, which is not based on and has not evolved into a text-book schema. Only comparatively rarely does my music find itself in a key, creation and release of tension in harmony and melody holding a greater interest for me than the use of keys and their relationships. This gives rise to compositions often starting in one area of harmony and ending in another. Justification for a language neither tonal nor serial was strengthened on the discovery of Liszt's Bagatelle without Tonality.

The tritone, whole tones and the bitter-sweet intervals of minor and major sevenths figure prominently. Practical knowledge of contrapuntal organ works has been significant, but I have not been drawn to overtly mathematical processes, though frequently changing and unusual time signatures are often employed.

Planning a structure, or letting one evolve, gives me much pleasure, as does finding that a passage of my music has an evocative quality. The expression of moods and human temperaments fascinates me.

Bound for an exciting destination, features of the scenery through which one passes (bars 1 to 83) remain in the memory.

As the journey progresses, these memories are integrated with those of additional features seen (bars 84 to 170). On arrival at the destination, there is a feeling of elation (bars 171 to 186) followed by the journey's prominent memories being recalled (bars 187 to the end).

Alternatively, one can imagine the gradual coming to fruition of a project, or the growth of something in the natural world.

Sternstunde ("star-hour"), a word introduced to me by Marianne von Einsiedel, can be taken to mean "insight" or "moment of inspiration." The composition aims to justify the word as its title by using the organ in sprightly unusual ways. I hope that eccentricities in the piece will be reminiscent of (though not copied from) the style of C.P.E. Bach.

Registration guidelines are given throughout the score. It will be helpful to have Generals at the following places:

Gen. 1 bar 32; Gen. 2 bar 50; Gen. 3 bar 59; Gen. 4 bar 141; Gen. 5 bar 144; Gen. 6 bar 157; Gen. 7 bar 169 and Gen. 8 bar 178.

The work may be played on an instrument without a swell box, but use may be made of such in bars 160 - 167 (close the box at bar 145) and 191 - 195 (close the box at bar 186).
